Predictive Services:	Cooling &amp; Moistening Trend This Weekend... <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Beautiful fall week. No precipitation until Sunday 10/18. Temps will be above seasonal normal, nights will be in the mid to low 30s. Should have good RH recover for the week.</li> <li>• Potential for record breaking high temps, for Idaho.</li> <li>• Saturday/Sunday we may see some precip and higher RHs for the weekend. Some winds coming in ahead of the system. 15-20 mph winds.</li> <li>• Models are staying consistent.</li> </ul>
GBCC Update:
1 Fire: Walker IC:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Same as the 209. 5440 acres/ 60% contained/2.7M</li> <li>• IR flight last but had a new vender and not really confident in the product.</li> <li>• North end of the East side above warm springs picked up some spots coming out of Grimes creek. Picked them up and have been lined.</li> <li>• Northwest side of Grimes Creek. Hand line is completed and burned out a bit. Have line around it. Still some significant heat in there.</li> <li>• Eastside of Grimes Creek completed the line and burned it out HUGE accomplishment. Did some work with PSD and will continue that today if conditions are good to clean it out to the bottom of the drainage. Crews will be holding, improving and securing where they put in that line.</li> <li>• Little concern in the bottom of Grimes there is a strip of private land where the owner has a plantation. Will have some added resources in there for additional insurance.</li> <li>• Started to talk glide path – demobing ½ resources on Sunday and the rest on Monday.</li> <li>• Critical need; nothing</li> <li>• Did have a couple of bee stings no transports</li> </ul>
