Morning Fire Weather Forecast for Sunday, August 2nd, 2026

DISCUSSION...

Slight cooling is expected for most areas today, but breezy conditions develop again this afternoon and evening. A warming and drying trend begins Monday, culminating in a heat wave Tuesday through Thursday with low afternoon humidity, poor overnight RH recovery and occasionally breezy winds. The heat wave could last into Friday. Some cooling is possible next weekend, but it probably remains above normal. There is still little or no signal for thunderstorms over the next 7 days.
