Morning Fire Weather Forecast for Friday, September 11th, 2026

DISCUSSION... Today, breezy to gusty afternoon/evening winds and low humidities east of the Cascades will result in elevated fire weather concerns. On Saturday, low pressure will move in and bring cooler temperatures and showers to the area. Strong, gusty winds are expected east of the Cascades but humidities trend higher. Dry, cool weather is expected Sunday followed by a warming and drying trend early next week.
